

Five Invisible Ways to Spring into a Healthier Home

Every spring, outdoor air quality and seasonal allergies are top of mind, but indoor air quality (IAQ) and home safety are rarely considered. Improve home IAQ through simple solutions like dusting, managing humidity and ventilation, and filtering the air to limit pollutants. Also, ensure you have the right smoke and carbon monoxide alarms for a safer and healthier home.

Procter & Gamble and Carrier are joining forces to drive more healthy homes. Here are a few tips to help you breathe cleaner air and feel safer in your home.

To learn more about how Carrier and Kidde enable healthier and safer homes, visit corporate.carrier.com/healthyhomes

To learn more about how P&G is helping families create homes they love to live in, visit homemadesimple.com

*Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health Homes for Health: 36 Expert Tips to Make Your Home a Healthier Home.

©2022 Carrier and Procter & Gamble. All Rights Reserved. Carrier and the Carrier logo are trademarks of Carrier Corporation.

Any other trademark mentioned herein is a trademark or registered trademark of the respective owners.