

Nadia Villeneuve

Senior Vice President & Chief Human Resources Officer
Carrier

Nadia Villeneuve is Senior Vice President & Chief Human Resources Officer for Carrier, leading the company's global human resources and communications function. In this capacity, she sets the strategic vision for innovative talent solutions, drives HR programs that inspire a positive and engaging company culture, aligns workforce initiatives with Carrier's key business priorities and ensures communications are tightly integrated with the people strategy — enhancing engagement, strengthening cultural alignment and telling the Carrier story with consistency across internal and external audiences.

Nadia has more than 22 years of experience spanning human resources and business. She joined Pratt & Whitney in 2000 and held various global leadership positions, including roles in Canada and Poland. Nadia subsequently served as Vice President, Human Resources, Asia, for UTC Fire & Security based in Shanghai, China before returning to Pratt & Whitney in January 2012 to lead the global human resources function. In 2015, Nadia was appointed to her current role at Carrier.

Nadia holds a bachelor's degree in finance from Université du Québec à Montréal (Montréal, Québec, Canada) and a master's degree in management from l'École des Hautes Études Commerciales, Université de Montréal (Montréal, Québec, Canada).
